ADVISORY BOARD SAYS
EVELYN FOSTER IS REAL BAD AT TIMES

Matron Hopkins Entirely Vindicated For Treatment of Incorrigible Girl

The Advisory Board of the State Industrial school for girls, consisting of Mrs. Lola G. Baldwin, Aristene Pelts and Mrs. Mollie C. Dancy, of Salem, entirely vindicated Mrs. Hopkins, matron of the girls school, in the matter of her treatment of Mrs. Evelyn Foster, in the report of the Advisory board which was submitted to the board of control today.

The report which includes a letter from Mrs. Elizabeth Cosgriff, a Portland probation officer, indicates that Evelyn was truly a naughty maiden.
Mrs. Cosgriff says in her letter that none "can compare with Evelyn in being incorrigible, arbitrary and in using profane and abusive language." It appears that in addition to her other accomplishments, Evelyn has a nasty temper and a mean disposition. Evelyn Foster is the girl who aroused considerable comment through a report which Mrs. Hopkins submitted to the meeting of the board of control some time ago. Mrs. Hopkins admitted that she was at her wits end as to how to handle Evelyn and the board of control admitted that it did not desire to take any naughty girls to raise and for Mrs. Hopkins to go ahead and handle the case according to the dictates of her own conscience.

Meanwhile the Advisory board called an investigation of the case with the result that they found the reports to indicate that Evelyn was a problem all by herself.

The report of the advisory board says in part:
"The latter part of March she was arrested under the alias of Evelyn Everett on a charge of vagrancy and was returned to the juvenile court. She was associating at that time with a girl who had been in a great deal of trouble. These girls were living at the Palmer hotel and leading immoral lives.

"She was later arrested by the Portland police while on a motorcycle with a married man who has a family." She was committed to the State Industrial school for girls by Judge Cleton and ran away on October 23 taking another girl with her.

"Our investigation showed that the girl was brought back and placed in her own room on a diet of bread and milk; that she refused to work and that she was so unruly that it became necessary to restrain her. We found it true that she had broken her drinking glass and tattooed her arm the whole length, also her hand, and that she had slightly cut the vein in her wrist and in both hands. In order to prevent her from doing further injury to herself, she was placed in a suit that has been termed a straight jacket but it was home made affair and she immediately tore it to pieces.

"Evelyn told us, 'I acted perfectly terrible and I did not get half of what I deserved for what I did.'
The report was signed by Mrs. Lola G. Baldwin, Aristene Pelts and Mollie C. Dancy.

PUBLIC MARKET TO BE EQUIPPED WITH STANDARD SCALES

No More "Family" Scales Will Be Used by the Patrons of the Market

The Salem public market was inspected this morning by Deputy State Sealer of Weights and Measures, Fred C. Buchtel, who found that a number of scales of the "family type" were in use. These family scales, says Mr.
Buchtel, were not originally intended for the trade but were put out by the manufacturers as a cheap scale to be used in the family for weighing articles about the kitchen. If the cook weighs her peaches and the sugar on the same scale—the preserves are not likely to be too sweet or too sour, and the scales are accurate enough for the household.
However, in the strictest terms of the law the scales do not weigh to the fraction of an ounce and have been universally condemned for the trade.

The scales of all of the family scales found at the public market today expressed an entire willingness to comply with the terms of the law and all will put in better scales before next market day. In view of the fact that it is not possible to secure entirely satisfactory scales of moderate price in this city the scales in use in the public market today were allowed to remain as there were no indications that anyone was being short weighed. However, the hardware stores will soon have a good supply of reliable scales on hand for the trade and by next week the market will be equipped with standard scales according to the regulations.

The office of weights and measures will soon issue specifications for a standard scale giving the requirements that all manufacturers are expected to comply with and under the law the office can prohibit the sale of scales which are faulty in manufacture.

Suit Brought To Disbar Salem Attorney From Practice In This State

Proceedings to disbar B. S. Martin, an attorney of this city from practicing law in this state, were instituted in the supreme court yesterday by the grievance committee of the state bar association. It is charged that Martin substituted 26 pages of testimony in a transcript on appeal in order that the testimony might appear more favorable to his side of the case. The case in which the alleged irregularity is said to have been made is one brought by Martin, himself, against the city of Brownsville and involved some property in the Linn county town.

The case was appealed to the supreme court in 1912 but was thrown out by the supreme court on account of the alleged substitution. In the order dismissing the case the supreme court justices stated that the substitution was evident on account of the difference in the typewriting which was traced back to Martin.

Martin is of middle age and lives in West Salem with his family and has been practicing law in this city for more than a year. He has offices in the Bush-Bryman building on North Commercial street.

Market Keeps Active
But Is Also Steady (Copyright 1915 by the New York Evening Post.)
New York, Nov. 20.—The movement of prices on the stock exchange was again irregular today, and was such as is always apt to continue after a breakdown of violent speculation. Perhaps the most striking difference between this and other similar periods in the past has been the unwillingness of the present market to relapse into inactivity.

Portland Looks Out For Herself and None Other
Hington and Milwaukee territory by the Washington mills, he continued.
"In the last five years," he said, the active facilities of the mills in the valley have materially decreased. We have rebuilt our plant at Springfield, it is true, but that was to replace the one destroyed by fire."

Would Not Hear Salem.
Mr. Dixon then enumerated numerous mills in various parts of the valley that are closed entirely or operating on short time, due to lack of market.

"On the other hand," he asserted, "at least three Portland mills are running night and day and others have improved their plants and enlarged their capacity."

At the same time, the Portland witnesses were ready to point out that many new mills have been built in the Willamette valley within the last decade, that the capacity of existing plants has been increased within the last year, and that the market of the valley mills has expanded.

Before adjournment last night, F. G.
Deckebach, representing the Salem Commercial club, offered for the record resolutions from the Salem, the McMinnville and the Newberg Commercial clubs supporting the present rates, and asked permission to argue his point. This request was denied, however, because the organizations that he represents had not intervened in the case. He was permitted to file his resolutions with an objection by Mr. Wilson recorded with them.
